MOVING THE DEPOT

Protest Against Moving Sent in by Several Property Owners.

A counter petition, signed by about twenty property owners, protesting against the removal of the depot from its old location, has been sent in. This move is gotten up by the Stetson estate, Dreka, Fisher, Miller and several other property owners on New York avenue. The petition was signed by fifteen or twenty large property owners, and, it is claimed, represents a majority of the property.

Superintendent Higgins, whose headquarters are in Sanford, has promised to come to DeLand and give each side a hearing in the matter.

In the meantime, DeLand people are busy entertaining the teachers and trying to keep warm, and haven't had time to fight about the location of the depot.

Moves and Moving.

G. A. Dreka & Co. are moving into their handsome new building this week. The grocery department has already been moved and the drygoods and gents furnishing departments will follow. As soon as the stock is moved out of the building on the west side of the Boulevard, M. Davis will move his stock into this room, while the room now occupied by Davis will be fitted up for the First National Bank. A room for renting will be arranged at the rear of the bank building, facing New York avenue.

Daytona Lodge, No. 1141, B. P. O. E., of Daytona, gave a most brilliant charity ball last evening. Many DeLand people went over in autos yesterday afternoon and attended the dance last night.

Dreka's Dept. Store is the place to do your Christmas shopping.

The DeLand merchants had the biggest and best Christmas trade ever. The rush began Monday of Christmas week, and did not end until after 12 o'clock Christmas night. All the stores did the best business they have ever done, and the increase with those that had liberally told of their advantages in printers ink was remarkable.

Mrs. G. D. Pugh and daughter, Miss Lois, are here from Savannah spending the holidays with Mrs. Pugh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hodges, and her sister, Mrs. Charles O. Coddington. The friends here of Mr. Pugh regret that his duties as superintendent of the Savannah division of the Atlantic Coast Line prevented his coming to DeLand last week. He will be here today if opportunity permits.

Stephen Gibson, the colored man who drives the city sanitary wagon, won the Santa Claus shown in The Curio window the past few weeks. The big doll was won by Ticket No. 2201, but up to the present time has not been claimed; the second number, (2500) is held by Rev. Geo. P. Mayo, of Charlottesville, Va., who is in DeLand on his wedding trip, and if Ticket No. 2201 is not presented by January 10, the doll will go to the holder of the second number.

There has been a wood famine in DeLand all week. The stock on hand in the wood yards was depleted by the first cold snap of the season and the cold weather of this week has caught the wood yards entirely out of wood. We don't know how others have fared, but more wood has been burned in the office of The News Publishing Company already this season than was used all during the winter of 1908-09. Last year, the wood dealers were able to keep a surplus on hand all the time.

Fred B. Haven was shaking hands with DeLand friends on Monday. Mr. Haven was home for the holidays from the Panama canal, where he has been employed as a blacksmith for several years. Uncle Sam is mighty good to his employees. Haven gets 70 cents an hour. He was taken sick with an abscess on the brain last June, and has been in the United States hospital at Colon since then. He received the very best of care, the attention of a skilled surgeon, and it cost him not a cent except his lost time. He was off on leave of absence when taken sick, or he would have received a month's pay besides good care in the hospital. After visiting his folks in Volusia County, Fred will go to Tampa, from there to Galveston and return in a few weeks to his work at the Canal zone. While here he subscribed for THE NEWS and will thus be kept posted with what is going on at home.
